FALL AND WINTER CLOTHING

ever shown in Decatur. Our Men's, Young Men's and Boys' Clothing will be distinguished from ordinary ready-made Clothing, not only by the superior Fit, Style and Finish so long noticeable in our garments, but also by our Extremely Low Prices for superior made goods.

Decatur's Leading Clothier, B. Stine.

A Word to the Wise is Sufficient

Provident people, you know, are never in one another's way; too few of 'em. Have your coal put in before the slower multitude taxes the railroads and mines. The best coal in the world is that which is mined and screened at leisure and housed in good weather. But wise buyers, who are also provident buyers, are not in the majority. For the present I am filling orders with the best grades of Scranton, Pennsylvania and Reading anthracite coal at the lowest summer prices, which will not last always. The provident buyer takes time by the forelock.

SOFT COAL

If you desire to purchase a few tons of soft coal, why not buy it now? I am sole agent for the Riverton coal mining company of Riverton, Ill. This coal is unsurpassed for cleanliness and economy, and I am filling orders for winter supply at very low prices. Don't delay but place your orders now before bad roads and the taxing of the mines and railroads for the winter trade make such prices impossible. Our motto is good clean coal at the lowest market price, full weight (weighed on the city scales if you so desire.)

MORE WEDDING BELLS.
A large company at the ceremony at St. Patrick's church.
St. Patrick's church was filled yesterday afternoon by a large company as ever assembled in that church, noted somewhat for large congregations. The occasion for the gathering was a happy one, being no less than the marriage of Frank W. Westhoff and Miss Appolonia Gaebler. It was just 4 o'clock, the hour announced, and after the last one in the company had been seated, that the full opera house orchestra, led by Professor Bull, announced the coming of the bride party by striking up the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin. A moment later the doors were thrown open and the party entered. It was preceded by the aisle by the bridesmaids, James Cooper and Bernard Bradley. The bride and groom came next, followed by Miss Maggie Hughes as bridesmaid and Will Curran as best man.
The graceful bride was beautiful in a rich looking dress of cream Henrietta cloth, elaborately trimmed with white ribbons, made high in the neck, long sleeves and train. She wore a bridal veil, with natural flowers and diamonds for ornaments. The bridesmaid's dress was of cream abtross made empire fashion. The gentlemen were in black, with Prince Albert coats.
At the altar the party was met by Rev. William J. Maguire, assistant rector of St. Patrick's church, who performed the brief, but beautiful and impressive, ceremony of the Catholic church. After the register had been signed, and while Mr. and Mrs. Westhoff left the church, the orchestra played in full, happy tones the magnificent "Wedding March" of Mendelssohn.
At night a reception was given the newly married couple at the home of the bride's father, 309 East Washington street. It was attended by only a few relatives and intimate friends. The company congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Westhoff and wished for them years of happiness and prosperity, and in that they are joined by their many friends in all classes in the city.
There were a large number of handsome and expensive presents, some useful and some ornamental. A number of telegrams and letters were received.
Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Westhoff, of O'Fallon, Mo., father of the groom, Miss Kate Dennis, of Concordia, Kan., and Mrs. J. C. Elsley, of Springfield, were here to attend the wedding.
Mr. and Mrs. Westhoff will make their home with the bride's father, on Washington street.

THE FIRST DAY.

OPENING SESSIONS OF THE ILLINOIS W. C. T. U.

A Full Report of the Proceedings of the Three Sessions. The Temperance Temple a Fact—Annual Address of the President—The Program for To-Day—Interesting Notes.

MORNING SESSION.
The convention of the Illinois Woman's Christian Temperance Union assembled in the opera house yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. After being called to order, the exercises were opened with reading of the Scripture and prayer by Mrs. P. C. Hathaway, of Normal.
The president greeted the convention with encouraging words and bade them to lend their best energies to the business in hand. "The eyes of the people are on us as we meet in this house, the most magnificent building ever accorded to a session of our Union."
Some little time was consumed in assigning seats to the several delegations, not half as much, however, as would be consumed by an average convention of the temperance cause. The ladies have one advantage in matters of this sort over men—they don't wear cowhide boots and whoop and holler all the time. These ladies proceed quietly and steadily to business as if they were dead in earnest. The president's gavel was not used once to enforce order.
Misses Mae McKenzie, Mabel Roberts and Myra Carmany were appointed pages, and fitted noiselessly blither and blither as their services were required.
A PAPER.
The proceedings of the executive committee were read by Miss Ruby L. Gilbert, recording secretary, and adopted. Among its proceedings was a resolution to print 1,000 copies of "The Work-Shop," a little paper to be published during the continuance of the convention. Its sale will assist the finances of the Union, but the public at large will still depend upon the reports of the proceedings furnished by the Review.
Mrs. Clara Hoffman, president of the Missouri W. C. T. U., was introduced by the president and made some very pleasant remarks. She said that she and Mrs. Rounds were raised in the same neighborhood in the State of New York and together they had learned to love the women of Illinois. Alluding to the recent defeat of prohibition in Connecticut, she said that the press, the pulpit and the institutions of learning were arrayed against them, all decried by the ignis fatuus of high license. Still their prospects were better now than were those of the anti-slavery people in 1860. The defusion of high license would have its run. Christ was unpopular at one time. He conquered; so shall we.
Letters of greeting and good wishes were read from Misses Mary Allen West, Mary McDowell, Mrs. L. R. Thompson and George C. Hall, manager of the W. T. Publishing Co.
It was ordered that the members of the committee on resolutions be chairman of their respective district delegations.
COMMITTEES.
The following committees were appointed: On telegrams—Mrs. Reid, of Bloomington, and Mrs. Babcock, of Monmouth.
On courtesies—Mrs. Tyng, Peoria, Mrs. McCulloch, Hillsboro, and Mrs. Holt, Decatur.
On enrollment—Mrs. Rankin, Monmouth, and Mrs. Emma Lewis, Macon.
Miss Walker was appointed sergeant-at-arms.
The president invited Mrs. Kraus to the platform as time-keeper.
ADDRESS OF WELCOME.
Mrs. Isabel K. Stafford, in behalf of the W. C. T. U. ladies and citizens generally of Decatur, delivered an address of welcome. She said:
"Of welcome you because you are women of God, of social habits and trained minds. We may not be able to entertain you as we would like, but in our hearts you are welcome. May we press hard against ignorance and prejudice the bars to woman's suffrage. The time is not distant when woman will be clothed in all the vestments of civil government. We must have prohibition for any party, from any quarter, at any price."
This was responded to in an interesting and sprightly manner by Miss Norton Marengo.
P. A. Van Fleet, former editor of the Lever, Chicago, was presented to the convention by the president, and in graceful terms, greeted them with words of encouragement.
The convention united in singing "Jesus, Lover of my Soul."
REPORTS.
of the presidents of districts 1 to 5 were read, as was also the report of Miss Walker, superintendent of literature.
Miss Harlan suggested that each delegate send to her Decatur host a temperance publication for a year as a memento.
Misses Cowan and Norton were appointed mail agents for the convention.
Mrs. Tyng offered a resolution of regret at losing the services of Miss McDowell. Adopted.
A communication was read from E. A. Gastman, Superintendent of schools, inviting the members of the convention to visit the public schools. Accepted with thanks.
A motion to send greetings to the state conventions of Maine, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and North Carolina, and to Miss Frances Willard, was referred to the committee on telegrams.
The following ladies were appointed as collectors to serve during the convention, and were requested not to let any coin or bank note escape their vigilance: Mesdames Keppeler, Grant, Knapp, Wilkinson, Slapes, Collins, Murphy, Hughes, Kennedy, Lintinberger, D. J. Lockridge, Misses Ryan and Honey.
The treasurer requested that delegates having money for the convention hand it in and that all claims be presented upon the adjournment of this meeting.
Rev. G. B. Vosburgh was presented to the convention and made a few pleasant remarks.
The hymn, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," was sung, and after prayer by the president, Rev. Vosburgh pronounced the benediction and the convention adjourned until 3 p. m.
AFTERNOON SESSION.
At 3 p. m. the convention was called to order. Hymn, "I Am Thine, O Lord." Scripture reading by Miss Lucie B. Tyng. Prayer by Mrs. E. G. Hibbets.
A letter from Mrs. Miller, of Geneseo, requesting prayers for her recovery from severe illness, was read and, at the request of the president, Mrs. D. Metzgar, of Moline, led in prayer.
The report on "Work Among the Miners," was read by Mrs. D. W. English, of Rushville.
The report on "Work Among Soldiers and Soldiers" was read by Miss Irene H. Smith, of Quincy.

Miss Gaston presented the merits of Miss Willard's new book, "Glimpses of Fifty Years."
Miss Helen Walker called attention to The Union Signal, and urged the delegates to encourage its circulation.
FOR THE TEMPLE.
A telegram from Mrs. T. B. Carse, Chicago, announcing that Marshal Field had subscribed $200,000 towards the erection of the projected Woman's Temperance Temple, was read and loud applause. The audience arose and sang "Praise God, from Whom all Blessings Flow."
It was not expected that money enough to build the temple would be raised for two or three years. When the convention began to assemble yesterday $250,000 was yet wanting, but Marshal Field's action yesterday resulted in securing another subscription of $50,000, so that now the whole amount has been subscribed and work on the building will probably begin this fall. The building will cost $500,000, and besides furnishing a home for the union, will be a handsome source of income.
"ORGANIZATION."
The time for the discussion of the topic, "Organization," county and local, having arrived it was resolved to limit speakers to five minutes and one speech each.
The discussion was opened by Mrs. E. B. Sanford with many pertinent suggestions and much advice. Interesting interchange of views followed, participated in by the following ladies: Mesdames Grant, Beach, Hutton, Kennedy, Keppeler, Murphy, Shepler, Butterfield, Gladish, Coff, James, Musselman, Collins and Grant; and Misses Norton, Honey and Meehan and others.
The President alluded to the careful study of the last annual report as necessary to a thorough knowledge of the work and requested all who had made a study of said report to stand. About one-half the delegates arose.
REV. S. E. SCHIRMER. was introduced and said that there was a time when it embarrassed him to stand before a woman; how much more so to be in the presence of so many bright, intelligent women as composed this assemblage. He bade them godspeed in their noble work.
REPORTS.
of the district presidents were presented as follows: 19th, Mrs. M. C. Board; 18th, Mrs. M. E. West; 17th, Mrs. A. V. Boulter. After singing, "Precious Promises," the 16th district report was read by Mrs. H. Shepler.
The committee on telegrams reported the messages of greeting proposed to be sent to the several State Conventions and Mrs. Willard, which were read, amid great applause and adopted. The messages consisted of references to certain passages of Scripture, the appropriateness of which was very marked.
After singing "Blest be the tie that binds" and prayer, the convention adjourned until 7:30 p. m.
EVENING SESSION.
The opera house was crowded to repletion long before the hour of meeting—even the despised "peanut gallery" was filled with eminently respectable people.
The exercises began by the choir singing "Nearer My God to Thee," then scripture reading by Miss Gilbert and prayer by Mrs. S. B. Watkins. "Tis the Voice of the Lord" was rendered in charming style by the choir.
The next on the program was the report of the superintendent of the evangelistic department.
MRS. P. C. HATHAWAY.
The report was very full and exhaustive and evidently prepared with great care. The evangelistic branch of the work was really the pioneer work and is still probably the most important work done.
The facts recited show that great good has been accomplished within the past year. In Chicago especially the "Hope Mission" and the "Anchorage" have been in operation. The former has been maintained chiefly by the exertions of Mrs. Braun, who holds services every day, alternately in English and Scandinavian. At the "Anchorage" in the last three months 50 women have been led to a better life. All over the state the ladies of the union have established and maintained missions and the aggregate amount of good work done is the whistly kind, a vigorous mission work is done and many of its people have been led to a changed life.
C. N. Brown, although suffering with a severe cold, rendered in excellent style a bass solo, "In the Secret of His Presence."
When the secretary announced that the president would now deliver her annual address, was greeted with waving of handkerchiefs and rapturous applause. In clear, ringing tones the fair speaker delivered one of the most elegant and eloquent addresses we have ever had the good fortune to hear. Couched in brilliant language, arranged in logical order, and delivered with great rhetorical skill, she rapidly reviewed the history of the Union and its work, and presented its claims to the confidence of all good citizens. In substance she said:
MRS. ROUNDS
"We meet to-night in the central city of Illinois, with its beautiful home and warm hearts. No city is protected from the curse of intemperance. The women are building dykes to protect their homes from the invading floods of alcohol. In 1879 we stood up before this community to be measured. We were then a feeble band. We came to be measured again. What is this institution that repels that leech of society, the saloon keeper? Our name is a long one, but not meaningless. Woman for ages has worked for man, and wept with him in his sorrows. To-day, the inspiration of poets, and anon the encouragement of warriors to valiant deeds.
Then she learned to sew, and by her skill added to the comfort of home or to the frivolity of fashion. She has since learned that she can stand single and alone, responsible for facts, and when she has shown that she is gifted with intelligence and prudence, men will bow down to her, not as the queen of beauty, but as the queen of hearts. When men can say 'love and work with me,' she will become his true helpmeet.
The word Christian is a part of our title. There is a higher duty than mere reformation. Men's souls must be converted before our work is thoroughly accomplished. Temperance, the special target of malice, people hesitate to give up the primer of temperance for the advanced book of prohibition, and for this we will ever stand. The man who votes for license ought to be willing that his son should die a drunkard—somebody's son will.
Union, the last division of our name. The inner and outer union of hands, and hearts, and heads. A diversity of lines of work, with a unity of purpose."

The church has heretofore stood aloof from us. So it did as to slavery; but the church is coming to us. Eminent divines have declared that the saloon and the church cannot stand in sympathy with each other. Even Bishop Spalding, of the Roman Catholic church declares the saloon "a nuisance." Never has the voice of the people had more influence and never did woman have greater influence. In another decade woman's power will have crystallized at the ballot box. In the old parties the center of gravity is the saloon. In our party it is the home.
The address was listened to with profound interest and interrupted with frequent applause. After music by the choir and prayer the convention adjourned until this morning.

Sam Small will lecture Friday night.
The Harvest Home services, prepared in honor of Miss Willard's 50th birthday, will be given by the L. T. L. children Friday afternoon.
Two subjects were discussed with interest and animation by the delegates last night between times. One was the temple and the prospects of seeing it started at an unhoped for early time, and the other was the surprising but pleasing scene on the stage during the afternoon session, in which Mrs. Rounds, the president, and Mrs. Shepler, of Toledo, president of the 16th district, took part. In her report Mrs. Shepler was telling about a time when Mrs. Rounds was expected to meet with them, but could not. At the close of that story, which was interesting, and in the relation of which Mrs. Rounds had taken a part, the two ladies were standing together. Evidently they didn't think of what the two or three horrid men might say afterwards, as they threw their arms around each other and kissed, while the 600 or 1,000 women looked on and smiled.
About 20 delegates are stopping at the Hotel Brunswick.
Several visitors to the convention left for home last night.
This will be the biggest day of the convention, as many visitors from neighboring towns will come in for this day only. This being the "Y" night will also tend to draw larger crowds.
Another Surprise.
The friends of Father P. J. Mackin, not content with the surprise they gave him on going away, had one for him on his return. It was a handsome life-size portrait of himself, hanging on the wall of the rectory when he arrived after a three months' absence. The picture was the work of Dr. Chamberlain, and was similar to one described in these columns before.
